

A person standing in the foreground, likely a visitor or tourist, providing a sense of scale for the large church structure.